

Chapter 6 - Oral Communication

Linda, a first year student, is feeling disappointed after her oral presentation to her class. There were some aspects that went well, but she felt that there were many things she could improve. Her presentation topic was 'Maintaining a balance between studies and social life'. She listed the many things that could distract students from their studies including friends, clubbing and social media. She then briefly, at the end, recommended that a first year student should strive for balance and not spend too much time on distractions. During the presentation, the students looked bored and were easily distracted.

Please give Linda constructive advice on how to improve her presentations in the future. You can also point out to her what went well.
