(2) An ombud may not deal with a complaint that has been dealt with by another 35 ombud except on referral by the other ombud. Amendment of governing rules 210. (1) (a) The governing rules of a recognised industry ombud scheme may not be amended without the approval of the Ombud Regulatory Council. (b) An amendment without the approval by the Ombud Regulatory Council is void. 40 (2) (a) Before approving an amendment in terms of this section, the Ombud Regulatory Council must publish a draft of the amendment and a statement explaining the need for and the intended operation of, the governing rule; and

(ii) a notice— 45 (aa) stating where the draft and explanatory statement are available;

(bb) inviting submissions in relation to the draft; and

(cc) stating where, how and by when submissions are to be made.

- (b) The period allowed for making submissions must be at least one month.

- (4) The Ombud Regulatory Council must not approve an amendment unless it is satisfied that to do so assists in achieving the object of this Act set out in section 7.

Time frames

211. Receipt of a complaint by the Ombud Regulatory Council or an ombud suspends any applicable time barring terms, whether in terms of an agreement or any law, or the running of prescription in terms of the Prescription Act, 1969 (Act No. 68 of 1969), for the period from the receipt of the complaint until the complaint has either been withdrawn, or finally determined.

Enforcement of Tribunal orders

- 227. (1) A party to a review may file with the registrar of a competent court a certified copy of an order made in terms of section 222 if—

Financial Sector Regulation Act

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE FINANCIAL SECTOR REGULATION BILL

1. BACKGROUND TO THE BILL

- 1.1 In December 2013, Cabinet approved the establishment of two regulators: a Prudential Authority within the South African Reserve Bank ("Reserve Bank") to supervise the safety and soundness of banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions, and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority to supervise how financial services firms conduct their business and treat customers. This followed earlier approval in July 2011 for a shift to a Twin Peaks approach to financial regulation, including the role of the Reserve Bank in overseeing financial stability.
- 1.2 The draft Financial Sector Regulation Bill ("the Bill") was approved by Cabinet on 4 December, 2013 for publication for public comment. The Bill was substantially revised after carefully considering comments received during the public comment process. The Bill was published again for public comment in December 2014. This version of the Bill was finalised after consideration of the comments received during the second public comment process.
- 1.3 Twin Peaks is a comprehensive and complete system for regulating the financial sector, prioritising the customer and protecting their funds. It represents a decisive shift away from a fragmented regulatory approach.
- 1.4 The Twin Peaks model of financial regulation is designed to underpin a comprehensive regulatory system, with two main aims:
 - to strengthen financial stability and the soundness of financial institutions, by creating a dedicated Prudential Authority; and
 - to protect financial customers and ensure that they are treated fairly by financial institutions, by creating a dedicated Financial Sector Conduct Authority.
- 1.5 In addition to the two regulators, the approach establishes a harmonised system of licensing, supervision, enforcement, customer complaints (including ombuds), a review mechanism and consumer education. This "single system" supports regulatory consistency, and reduces the scope for regulatory arbitrage or "forum shopping". It also makes it easier for any customer experiencing a problem, as the customer is often confused about where to complain when experiencing unfair treatment from a financial institution.
- 1.6 Within this system, the Reserve Bank oversees financial stability within a policy framework agreed with the Minister of Finance.
- 1.7 The Bill aims to improve the structure of regulation of the financial services sector, by ensuring more consistent and complete regulation, including for market conduct. It will give the Financial Sector Conduct Authority and the Prudential Authority jurisdiction over all financial institutions, and will provide them with a range of supervisory tools to fulfil their mandates.
- 1.8 Given the scale of the transformation in regulating the financial sector, the Twin Peaks system will be implemented in two stages. The first stage establishes the regulators and a uniform system and standards, with existing sub-sectoral (or activity-based) laws (for example on insurance and banking) remaining in place. In the second stage, the focus will be to streamline the current activity-based legislation (separate for banking, insurance, credit, pensions, etc.) into consolidated legislation, to reduce the scope for regulatory arbitrage.

2. OBJECT OF THE BILL

- 2.1 The object of the Bill is to achieve a financial system that works in the interests of financial customers, and supports balanced and sustainable economic growth in the Republic, by establishing, in conjunction with the other financial sector laws, a regulatory and supervisory framework that promotes—
 - financial stability;
 - the safety and soundness of financial institutions;
 - the fair treatment and protection of financial customers;
 - the efficiency and integrity of the financial system;
 - the prevention of financial crime;
 - · financial inclusion; and
 - confidence in the financial system.
- 2.2 Key matters addressed in the Bill:
 - 2.2.1 Financial stability and the management of systemic events
 - 2.2.1.1 The Bill explicitly confers on the Reserve Bank the mandate to protect and enhance financial stability, and if a systemic event has adversely affected financial stability, to restore and maintain financial stability.
 - 2.2.1.2 The Reserve Bank must monitor and keep under review the strengths and weaknesses of the financial system; and any risks to financial stability, and the nature and extent of those risks, including systemic risks and any other risks contemplated in matters raised by members of the Financial Stability Oversight Committee or reported to the Reserve Bank by the Prudential Authority, the Financial Sector Conduct Authority ("the financial sector regulators") the National Credit Regulator, or the Financial Intelligence Centre.
 - 2.2.1.3 The Reserve Bank must take steps to mitigate risks to financial stability, including advising the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and any organ of state, of tools to use and measures to take to mitigate those risks.
 - 2.2.1.4 The Reserve Bank must regularly assess the observance of principles developed by international standards setting bodies for market infrastructures in the Republic and report its findings to the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre.
 - 2.2.1.5 The Governor of the Reserve Bank is empowered to determine, after consultation with the Minister of Finance, that an event or circumstance, or a combination of events or circumstances, is a systemic event.
 - 2.2.1.6 The Reserve Bank must take all practicable steps to prevent a systemic event from occurring, and if a systemic event has occurred or is imminent, to mitigate as soon as practicable the adverse effects on financial stability, and manage the systemic event and its effects.

- 2.2.1.7 The Governor must ensure that the Minister of Finance is informed and kept abreast of steps being taken to address a systemic event, and the Minister must approve any actions taken that may have an impact on public finances or the cost of borrowing, or that will or may create a future financial commitment of the Republic or a contingent liability of the Republic.
- 2.2.1.8 If the Governor has determined that a systemic event has occurred or is imminent, each financial sector regulator, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre must provide the Reserve Bank with any information in the regulator's possession that may be relevant to managing the effects of the systemic event, including information on any actual or potential impact on public finances, and consult the Governor before exercising any of their powers in a way that may affect measures that are being or are proposed to be taken to manage the systemic event or the effects of the systemic event.
- 2.2.1.9 The Governor may issue directives to financial sector regulators and the National Credit Regulator, which may—
 - (a) require the financial sector regulator, the National Credit Regulator or the Financial Intelligence Centre to provide the Reserve Bank with information in the regulator's possession, or available to the regulator, that is specified in the directive; and
 - (b) include requirements as to the exercise of the powers of the financial sector regulator, the National Credit Regulator or the Financial Intelligence Centres, so as to assist the Reserve Bank in complying with the Reserve Bank's obligations under clause 14 and the object of this Bill, which may include measures aimed at supporting the restructuring, resolution or winding up of any financial institution; preventing or reducing the spread of risk, weakness or disruption through the financial system; and increasing the resilience of financial institutions to risk, weakness or disruption.
- 2.2.1.10 Other organs of state exercising powers with respect to the financial system may not, without the approval of the Minister, acting in consultation with the Cabinet member responsible for that organ of state, exercise its powers in a way that will be inconsistent with a decision or action taken by the Governor or the Reserve Bank to manage that systemic event or the effects of that systemic event.
- 2.2.1.11 The Financial Stability Oversight Committee is established, which will to support the Reserve Bank in performing the Reserve Bank's functions in relation to financial stability, and foster collaboration and co-ordination of action among and between the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank in relation to matters relating to financial stability.
- 2.2.1.12 The Financial Stability Oversight Committee will—
 - (a) provide a forum for representatives of the Reserve Bank and of each of the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre to be informed, and to exchange views, about the activities of the Reserve Bank and the regulators relating to financial stability;
 - (b) advise the Governor on the designation of systemically important financial institutions;

- (c) advise the Minister and the Reserve Bank on actions to be taken to promote financial stability, including matters relating to crisis management and prevention; and
- (d) make recommendations to relevant organs of state that are appropriate for them to take to assist in managing or preventing risks to financial stability; and
- (e) perform any other function conferred on it in terms of legislation.
- 2.2.1.13 The Financial Stability Oversight Committee will be assisted by the Financial Sector Contingency Forum, comprised of representatives from the relevant industry bodies, the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, and other relevant organs of state and any other entities or bodies determined by the chairperson of the Forum.
- 2.2.1.14 A duty is placed on the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre to—
 - (a) co-operate and collaborate with the Reserve Bank, and with each other, to maintain, protect and enhance financial stability,
 - (b) provide assistance and information to the Reserve Bank and the Financial Stability Oversight Committee in the performance of the functions of those bodies with respect to financial stability that the Reserve Bank or the Committee may reasonably request; and
 - (c) promptly report to the Reserve Bank any matter of which the regulator becomes aware that poses or may pose a risk to financial stability; and
 - (d) gather information from or about financial institutions that concerns financial stability.
- 2.2.1.15 The financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank are mandated to enter into one or more Memoranda of Understanding with the Reserve Bank specifying how they will co-operate and collaborate with, and provide assistance to, each other and otherwise perform their roles, and comply with their duties, relating to financial stability.
- 2.2.1.16 The Reserve Bank must, when acting in terms of its financial stability mandate, and when exercising its powers in terms of the Bill, take into consideration:
 - (a) views expressed and the information reported by the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre; and
 - (b) the recommendations of the Financial Stability Oversight Committee.

2.2.2 Establishment of Financial Sector Regulators

- 2.2.2.1 The Bill establishes two new financial sector regulators, the Prudential Authority and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority ("the financial sector regulators").
- 2.2.2.2 The Prudential Authority's objective is to—
 - (a) promote and enhance the safety and soundness of financial institutions that provide financial products;
 - (b) promote and enhance the safety and soundness of market infrastructures;

- (c) protect financial customers against the risk that those financial institutions may fail to meet their obligations; and
- (d) assist in maintaining financial stability.
- 2.2.3 The Financial Services Board will disestablished, and the new Financial Sector Conduct Authority will be established, with the objective to—
 - (a) enhance and support the efficiency and integrity of the financial system; and
 - (b) protect financial customers by—
 - (i) promoting that financial institutions treat financial customers fairly; and
 - (ii) providing financial customers and potential financial customers with financial education programs, and otherwise promoting financial literacy; and
 - (iii) assist in maintaining financial stability.
- 2.2.4 Co-operation and collaboration between the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank
 - 2.2.4.1 The Bill places obligations of co-operation and collaboration on the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank, who must for this purpose—
 - (a) generally assist and support each other in pursuing their objectives in terms of the financial sector laws, the National Credit Act and the Financial Intelligence Centre Act:
 - (b) inform each other about, and share information about, matters of common interest;
 - (c) strive to adopt consistent regulatory strategies, including addressing regulatory and supervisory challenges; and
 - (d) co-ordinate, to the extent appropriate, actions in terms of financial sector laws, the National Credit Act and the Financial Intelligence Centre Act, including in relation to—
 - standards and other regulatory instruments, including similar instruments provided for in terms of the National Credit Act and the Financial Intelligence Centre Act;
 - (ii) licensing;
 - (iii) routine on-site inspections and investigations;
 - (iv) actions to enforce financial sector laws, the National Credit Act and the Financial Intelligence Centre Act;
 - (v) information sharing;
 - (vi) recovery and resolution; and
 - (vii) reporting by financial institutions (including statutory reporting and data collection measures);
 - (viii) minimise the duplication of effort and expense, including by establishing and using, where appropriate, common or shared databases and other facilities;
 - $\begin{array}{ll} \hbox{(ix)} & \hbox{agree on attendance at relevant international forums;} \\ & \hbox{and} \end{array}$
 - (x) develop, to the extent that is appropriate, consistent policy positions, including for the purpose of presentation and negotiation at relevant South African and international forums.
 - 2.2.4.2 The financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank must enter into one or more memoranda of understanding addressing how they will fulfil their obligations to co-operate and collaborate with each other. The financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator and the Financial Intelligence Centre may provide for the delegation of powers between themselves.

- 2.2.4.3 A Financial System Council of Regulators is established, to facilitate consultation, co-operation and where appropriate, consistency of action, between the institutions represented on the Council by providing a forum for senior representatives of those institutions to discuss, and inform themselves about, matters of common interest.
- 2.2.4.4 A Financial Sector Inter-ministerial Council is established, to facilitate co-operation and collaboration between Cabinet members administering legislation relevant to the regulation and supervision of the financial sector, by providing a forum for discussion and consideration of matters of common interest.

2.2.5 Maintaining and enhancing prudential regulation and supervision

The new approach to prudential regulation seeks to create an effective legal and regulatory environment that ensures that financial institutions are capable of complying with their undertakings to participate in the financial system, including the maintenance of a sound financial position. Enhanced monitoring and supervision powers will promote compliance with applicable financial sector laws, which is necessary for the proper identification and mitigation of systemic risks.

2.2.6 Maintaining and enhancing market conduct regulation and supervision

The comprehensive and rigorous market conduct reporting and supervision requirements created under the new regulatory framework will ensure that consumers of financial products and financial services are not vulnerable and exploited, by introducing measures for the identification, detection and reporting of unfair treatment to customers, including financial awareness and financial literacy among South Africans. These measures will ensure that the efficiency and integrity of final markets is protected and enhanced, contribute to the maintenance of financial stability, promote financial inclusion, and assist in combating financial crime.

2.2.7 Operational independence and governance

The Bill will provide an appropriate governance framework that ensures operational independence, organisational effectiveness and adaptability of the new statutory structures and institutional frameworks including accountability mechanisms to enhance transparency and fairness.

2.2.8 Administrative action procedures and administrative action committees

The Bill permits the financial sector regulators to adopt administrative action procedures, setting out how administrative actions will be taken in terms of financial sector laws. They may also each establish an administrative action committee, to consider and make recommendations to the regulator on administrative actions that are referred to it by the regulator. The reconsideration of decisions by the financial sector regulators in specified circumstances is provided for.

2.2.9 Standards for financial products and services

- 2.2.9.1 An important mechanism for enhancing both the prudential and market conduct regulation of financial products and services is the provision for the Prudential Authority to issue prudential standards, the Financial Sector Conduct Authority to issue market conduct standards, and for the Prudential Authority and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority to be able, where they deem appropriate, to issue joint standards, in accordance with a consistent, specified procedure.
- 2.2.9.2 The Prudential Authority and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority may not make a standard that imposes requirements on providers of payment services, or a standard aimed at assisting in maintaining financial stability, without the concurrence of the Reserve Bank.
- 2.2.9.3 Going forward, the issuing of standards will largely replace the diversity of instruments that are currently issued in terms of financial sector laws, which will promote clarity and standardisation in relation to regulatory action.

2.2.10 Supervision of financial conglomerates

Another very important mechanism in the Bill that will enhance both prudential and market conduct regulation and supervision, is that a framework for the supervision for financial conglomerates is provided for.

2.2.11 Enforcement mechanisms

- 2.2.11.1 The Bill provides important enforcement mechanisms for the financial sector regulators.
- 2.2.11.2 The Bill contains detailed provisions enabling the regulators to gather information, and carry out supervisory on-site inspections and investigations, which are vital tools for the supervision and enforcement of the financial sector laws by the financial sector regulators.
- 2.2.11.3 The financial sector regulators may issue guidance notices and binding rulings.
- 2.2.11.4 The financial sector regulators are empowered to issue directives in order to ensure compliance and to prevent or stop non-compliance with the financial sector laws.
- 2.2.11.5 The regulators may also enter into enforceable undertakings with a licensed financial institution, in terms of which the financial institution voluntarily agrees to comply with the terms of the undertaking. The financial sector regulators are also empowered to issue administrative penalties, and to enter into leniency agreements with a person in exchange for that person's co-operation in an investigation or proceedings.
- 2.2.11.6 The financial sector regulators may issue debarment orders to individuals who have contravened the financial sector laws or an enforceable undertaking; attempted or conspired with, aided, abetted, induced, incited or procured another person to contravene a financial sector law in a material respect; or contravened in a material respect a law of a foreign country that corresponds to the financial sector law.

- 2.2.11.7 A debarment order prohibits the individual, for a specified period, as specified in the order, from providing, or being involved in the provision of, specified financial products or financial services, generally or in circumstances specified in the order; acting as a key person of a financial institution; or providing specified services to a financial institution, whether under outsourcing arrangements or otherwise.
- 2.2.11.8 The financial sector regulators may also apply to court for orders to ensure compliance with the financial sector laws.

2.2.12. Ombuds

The Financial Sector Ombud Schemes Regulatory Council ("the Ombud Regulatory Council") is established to provide for the regulation of ombud schemes, and the Ombud Regulatory Council is provided with necessary powers to enable the appropriate regulation of ombud schemes. A person with a complaint regarding a financial product or a financial service in terms of the Bill will have access to either an applicable ombud scheme, or to an ombud scheme designated to handle the complaint by the Ombud Regulatory Council.

2.2.13. Reviews and reconsideration of decisions

A Financial Services Tribunal ("Tribunal") is established, which is mandated to adjudicate on applications for reviews of decisions taken by the financial sector regulators or the Ombud Regulatory Council. Provision for the reconsideration of decisions in specified circumstances is also provided for.

- 3.10 Chapter 10 provides important enforcement powers to the financial sector regulators, as follows:
 - (a) Part 1 (clauses 140-141) provides for the issue of guidance notices and binding interpretations by the financial sector regulators. Clause 140 empowers the financial sector regulators to issue non-binding guidance notices on the application of the financial sector laws. Clause 141 provides for the issuing of binding interpretations on the application of specified provisions of the financial sector laws.
 - (b) Part 2 (clauses 142-149) empowers the financial sector regulators to issue regulator's directives. The Prudential Authority and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority are each empowered to issue directives in relation to specified matters.
 - (c) A period to comply with a directive is specified. The financial sector regulators are empowered to revoke directives. A financial institution,

- key person, representative or contractor to which a directive has been issued must comply with the directive. The power to issue directives in terms of this Bill applies in addition to the powers to issue directives that are provided for in other financial sector laws.
- (d) Part 3 (clause 150) provides for the acceptance by a responsible authority for a financial sector law (which is the financial sector regulator that is designated in Schedule 2 of the Bill as being the responsible authority for that financial sector law) of an enforceable undertaking in relation to future conduct that may be engaged in by person that is regulated by the financial sector law. An enforceable undertaking is a legal instrument that is enforceable by the authority in a court. An enforceable undertaking may include an undertaking to provide specified redress to financial customers. An enforceable undertaking may be varied or withdrawn if the responsible authority agrees. If an enforceable undertaking is breached, the responsible authority may suspend or cancel the licence of the person.
- (e) Part 4 (clause 151) empowers the financial sector regulators to institute proceedings in order to enforce compliance with a financial sector law. The financial sector regulator must publish court orders that are obtained.
- (f) Part 5 (clauses 152 -153) empowers the financial sector regulators to make debarment orders in respect of a person for contraventions of financial sector laws, enforceable undertakings, as well as in respect of attempting, conspiring, aiding and abetting, inducing, inciting or procuring another person to contravene a financial sector law, or contravening a law of a foreign country that corresponds to a financial sector law.
- (g) Part 6 (clause 154) empowers a responsible authority for a financial sector law to enter into leniency agreements, in exchange for a person's co-operation in investigations or in proceedings relating to a contravention of a financial sector law, which may provide that the responsible authority will not impose an administrative penalty.
- 3.11 Chapter 11 addresses significant owners of financial institutions. Clause 155 defines who is a significant owner. Criteria for the determination of persons to be designated as significant financial owners, include, but are not limited to, the percentage of issued share capital, the securities held, the control exercised and the person's ability to influence the strategy of a financial institution. Clause 156 provides for the declaration of a significant owner of a financial institution by a responsible authority. Clause 157 provides that a person may not enter into an arrangement in respect of an eligible financial institution, a manager of a collective investment scheme, or a financial institution prescribed in regulations, that results or would result in the person, alone or together with a related or interrelated person, becoming a significant owner, of the institution without the approval of the responsible authority for the financial sector law in terms of which the institution is required to be licensed. Similarly, a person may not enter into an arrangement with those types of financial institutions that results or would result in an increase or reduction of the extent of the ability of the person, alone or together with a related or interrelated person, to control or influence the business or strategy of the institution, without the approval of the responsible authority for the financial sector law in terms of which the institution is required to be licensed.
- 3.12 Chapter 12 provides for a framework for the supervision of financial conglomerates, an important area that is not currently well addressed in the financial sector legislation, as follows:
 - (a) Clause 158 empowers the Prudential Authority, after having consulted the Financial Sector Conduct Authority, to designate members of a group of companies, as defined in section 1 of the Companies Act, as a financial conglomerate. A financial conglomerate that is designated must include both an eligible financial institution and a holding company of the eligible financial institution, but it does not have to include all the members of a group of companies.

- (b) Clause 159 requires an eligible financial institution that becomes a member of a group of companies to notify the Prudential Authority within 14 days after it becomes a member of a group of companies.
- (c) Clause 160 empowers the Prudential Authority to require the holding company of a financial conglomerate to be licensed.
- (d) Clause 161 empowers the Prudential Authority to require the holding company of a financial conglomerate to be non-operating.
- (e) Clause 162 empowers the Prudential Authority to make prudential standards for financial conglomerates.
- (f) Clause 163 empowers the Prudential Authority to issue directives to the holding company of a financial conglomerate imposing requirements on the holding company to manage and otherwise mitigate risks to the prudent management or financial soundness of an eligible financial institution in the conglomerate arising from other members of the conglomerate. A directive may also be issued with respect to restructuring the conglomerate in accordance with a plan submitted to the Authority within a period agreed by the Authority, and approved by the Authority. The power of the Financial Sector Conduct Authority may issue a directive to the holding company of a financial conglomerate requiring the holding company to ensure that a financial institution in the conglomerate complies with a financial sector law for which the Financial Sector Conduct Authority is the responsible authority.
- (g) Clause 164 provides that a holding company of a financial conglomerate may not acquire or dispose of a material asset as defined in prudential standards made for this section without the approval of the Prudential Authority, and may not acquire or dispose of any other asset without having notified the Prudential Authority.
- 3.13 Chapter 13 provides for the imposition of administrative penalties by a responsible authority. Clause 165 stipulates criteria for the imposition of administrative penalties. Clause 166 provides for the potential for an agreement to be made for payment of the penalties by instalments. Clause 167 provides for the imposition of interest. Clause 168 provides for the enforcement of administrative penalties. Clause 169 provides for the application of funds received from administrative penalties. Clause 170 provides that when determining the sentence to impose on a person convicted of an offence in terms of a financial sector law, a Court must take into account any administrative penalty order in respect of the same set of facts. Clause 171 provides that the responsible authority may remit some or all of an administrative penalty. Clause 172 prohibits indemnification in respect of administrative penalties.
- 3.14 Chapter 14 provides for the regulation of Ombuds. It expands and broadens what is currently provided in the Financial Services Ombud Schemes Act, 2004 and incorporates ombud schemes as an important component of the financial sector regulatory framework established by the Bill. This Chapter provides, as follows:
 - (a) Part 1 (clauses 173 191) provides in clause 173 for the establishment of the Financial Sector Ombud Schemes Regulatory Council ("the Ombud Regulatory Council"). In terms of clause 174, the objective of the Ombud Regulatory Council is to assist in ensuring that financial customers have access to and are able to use affordable, effective, independent and fair alternative dispute resolution processes for complaints about financial products and financial services. The functions of the Ombud Regulatory Council are set out in clause 175, and the governance, staffing, and resources of the Ombud Regulatory Council are dealt with in the rest of that Part.
 - (b) Part 2 (clauses 192-198) sets out requirements for the recognition of industry ombud schemes, and for the suspension or revocation of that recognition.
 - (c) Part 3 (clauses 199-206) empowers the Ombud Regulatory Council to make rules, issue directives, accept enforceable undertakings, apply to court to ensure compliance with financial sector laws, issue debarment

- orders and administrative penalties, make information requests, and conduct supervisory on-site visits and inspections.
- (d) Part 4 (clauses 207 212) provides for general provisions relating to Ombud Schemes, including access to ombud schemes, the determination of an ombud scheme when there is no applicable ombud scheme, and addressing instances where there may be overlapping jurisdiction between ombud schemes. It is also required that the rules of an ombud scheme may not be amended without the approval of the Ombud Regulatory Council.
- 3.15 Chapter 15 addresses the reconsideration and review of decisions, as follows:

It also provides for the constitution of Panels of the Tribunal to consider decide applications for the review of decisions. An application for a review of a decision or the review proceedings do not suspend the operation of the decision unless the Tribunal makes an order that the operation of the decision is suspended. The orders that the Tribunal may make are specified, and the rules and procedures for proceedings of the Tribunal are provided for.
 - (c) Part 3 (clauses 228-231) provides for the reconsideration of decisions on application by aggrieved persons.
 - (d) Part 4 (clauses 232-234) addresses the right of persons to be informed of decisions, the right to reasons for decisions, the right to reconsideration of decisions, and the right to review of decisions.
- 3.16 Chapter 16 deals with finances, levies and fees.
- 3.17 Chapter 17 deals with various miscellaneous matters, as follows:
 - (a) Part 1 (clauses 238-243) deals with information sharing and reporting. It provides a framework for information sharing by the financial sector regulators. It mandates the reporting by auditors or actuaries to the financial sector regulators, who in the performance of their duties, become aware of a matter that has or is likely to have adverse effects on the financial condition of a financial institution. Provision is made for complaints to be made to the financial sector regulators. Disclosures by persons who properly report contraventions of the financial sector laws are afforded legal protection and may not be victimised.
 - (b) Part 2 (clauses 244-252) provides for the establishment of the Financial Sector Information Register, that will be managed by the National Treasury, with a view to providing financial institutions, financial customers and the general public with reliable access to accurate and up to date information relating to financial sector laws, regulatory instruments and their implementation.

It provides that a person who suffers a loss as a result of a contravention of a financial sector law may recover the loss in a court action. A financial sector regulator may extend timeframes specified in a financial sector law, and may issue exemptions to persons or a category of persons from compliance with a provision of a financial sector law, provided that specified requirements are met. Licences may be made subject to conditions. It is provided that the financial sector regulators may, in terms of the Memorandum of Understanding that they are required to enter into, agree in specified instances that notification and concurrence requirements in terms of the Act may not necessarily need to be adhered to. The financial sector regulator and the Ombud Regulatory Council must establish and give effect to arrangements to facilitate consultation with, and the exchange of information with, relevant stakeholders on matters of mutual interest. 4. ORGANISATIONS AND INSTITUTIONS CONSULTED

The National Treasury worked with the Financial Services Board and the Reserve Bank preparing the Bill. Previous drafts of the Bill were published for public comments in December 2013 and December 2014. Comments received on Bill from the relevant stakeholders and industry participants have been considered, and where appropriate, addressed in the finalised Bill.

5. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR THE STATE

There are no significant financial implications envisaged for the fiscus, as the financial sector regulators will be funded through fees and levies imposed on financial institutions.

6. CONSTITUTIONAL IMPLICATIONS

None.

7. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

- 7.1 The Constitution prescribes procedure for the classification of Bills, therefore a Bill must be correctly classified so that it does not become inconsistent with the Constitution.
- 7.2 The State Law Advisers have considered the Bill against the provisions of the Constitution relating to the tagging of Bills and against the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 (functional areas of concurrent national and provincial legislative competence) and Schedule 5 (functional areas of exclusive provincial legislative competence) to the Constitution.
- 7.3 The established test for classification of a Bill is that any Bill whose provisions in substantial measure fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution must be classified in terms of that Schedule. The process is concerned with the question of how the Bill should be considered by the provinces and in the National Council of Provinces. Furthermore, how a Bill must be considered by the provincial legislatures depends on whether it affects the provinces. The more the Bill affects the interests, concerns and capacities of the provinces, the more say the provinces should have on the contents of the Bill.
- 7.4 Therefore issue to be determined is whether the proposed amendments to the Act, as contained in the Bill, in substantial measure, fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.
- 7.5 The main object of the Bill is to achieve a financial system that works in the interests of financial customers, and supports balanced and sustainable economic growth in the Republic, by establishing, in conjunction with the other financial sector laws, a regulatory and supervisory framework that promotes—
 - · financial stability;

- the safety and soundness of financial institutions;
- the fair treatment and protection of financial customers;
- the efficiency and integrity of the financial system;
- the prevention of financial crime;
- financial inclusion; and
- confidence in the financial system.
- 7.6 In order to achieve it objects the Bill establishes the two new financial sector regulators, the Prudential Authority and the Financial Sector Conduct Authority.
- 7.7 The main objective of the Prudential Authority is to promote and enhance the safety and soundness of financial institutions that provide financial products and promote and enhance the safety and soundness of market infrastructures.
- 7.8 The main objective of the Financial Sector Conduct Authority is to enhance and support the efficiency and integrity of the financial system, to protect financial customers and topromote fair treatment of financial customers by financial institutions.
- 7.9 The Bill provides for, and ensures that there is, co-operation and collaboration between the financial sector regulators, the National Credit Regulator, the Financial Intelligence Centre and the Reserve Bank.
- 7.10 The Bill enhances and maintains prudential regulation and supervision; enhances and maintains market conduct regulation and supervision; maintains standards for financial products and services; the supervision of financial conglomerates; provides important enforcement mechanisms for the financial sector regulators.
- 7.11 The Ombud Regulatory Council is established to provide for the regulation of ombud schemes. The Ombud Council is provided with necessary powers to enable the appropriate regulation of ombud schemes, in order to resolve complaints by financial customers regarding a financial product or a financial service.
- 7.12 A Financial Services Tribunal is established and it is mandated to adjudicate on applications for reviews of decisions taken by the financial sector regulators or the Ombud Regulatory Council.
- 7.13 The Bill also contains consequential amendments in respect of various relevant Acts of Parliament in order to align these Acts with the envisaged Financial Sector Regulation Bill.
- 7.14 The proposed amendments reflected have been carefully examined to establish whether, in substantial measure, they fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.
- 7.15 In the view of the State Law Advisers, the subject matter of the proposed amendments does not fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution and it does not affect provinces whereby the procedure set out in section 76 of the Constitution would be applicable.
- 7.16 The State Law Advisers are therefore of the opinion that since this Bill does not deal with any of the matters listed in Schedule 4 of the Constitution, it must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure set out in section 75 of the Constitution.

7.17 The State Law Advisers are also of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
