

GENERAL MANAGEMENT

NATIONAL CERTIFICATE

Online Learning Programme
ID 59201 | NQF 5
(Accredited training programme)

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

The learnership encompasses a total of 24 modules, divided into 8 skills programmes.

The areas of management that are covered include the following:

- Leadership
- Relationship management
- Diversity and conflict management
- People management
- Financial management
- Best practice management
- Change management
- Results-based management.

Each module is evaluated by both formative and summative assessment. Assignments and examinations form part of your portfolio of evidence, to show your competence against a set of learning outcomes.

Learning will take place via the MediaWorks learner management system. Learning materials include videos, punchy text, visual material, quizzes and online assessments.

INTRODUCTION

Juta and accredited training provider, Media Works, have collaborated to present a National Certificate in General Management, which is offered on NQF level 5 with blended implementation models on offer.

Minimum entrance requirements:

Learners must be competent in Communication and Mathematical literacy NQF level 4.

MOBILE LEARNING ANYTIME, ANYWHERE

Online learning no longer requires a cumbersome desktop computer or laptop. Mobile devices have allowed learning to happen at any time and at any place. Whether you are travelling on a taxi, bus or train, waiting at the airport or for a meeting, your mobile device gives you instant access to your learning content.

The mobile app can work offline. If a learner is travelling to an area with no internet connection, the app allows learners to download the lessons and store them for later use. All activity is stored locally until an internet connection has been re-established, and the data is then uploaded back to the server.
