

Career Counselling

Edition:	1st Edition
Publication date:	2010
Author/Editors:	Maree, K
ISBN:	9780702178023
Format:	Soft Cover
Number of Pages:	176
Retail price:	R374.00 (incl. VAT, excl. delivery.)
Website Link:	juta.co.za/pdf/22917/

About this Publication:

Career Counselling: Methods that work is a much-needed introductory text for all practitioners involved in primary, secondary and tertiary education, psychology and social work. It is also suitable for corporate coaches, academics, researchers, scholars and students interested in becoming familiar with career construction counselling for life designing.

A unique feature of the book is that the work of an extensive range of international experts (theorists, researchers and practitioners) has been brought together in one publication. Representing the main schools of thought in career counselling today, this book identifies and reflects the growing global interest in innovative approaches to career counselling and, more particularly, Mark Savickas' career-style interview technique for career construction counselling.

Career Counselling: Methods that work was inspired, firstly, by the ground-breaking work of and global response to Mark Savickas' publications and workshops on the lifestyle approach to career counselling. Secondly, it was motivated by the increased emphasis on career counselling in training institutions. The contributors collectively meld traditional and contemporary traditions in the field of career counselling in this accessible, hands-on text that can be used to design the future lives of persons of all ages.

Contents Include:

Chapter 1: Career assessment: using scores and stories in life designing
Chapter 2: Using the best of both worlds: not a question of one or the other
Chapter 3: Enough for my mealie meal
Chapter 4: Career counseling of people with disabilities
Chapter 5: Can tests "predict" success or to help you find a career? The role of other factors in predicting success
Chapter 6: Storytelling: moving from thin stories to thick and rich stories
Chapter 7: Obtaining an interest profile
Chapter 8: Personality and value-related information
Chapter 9: Obtaining a study orientation profile
Chapter 10: Obtaining, developing and enhancing an emotional intelligence profile
Chapter 11: The role of the family in career interest development
Chapter 12: Creative approaches to gathering baseline information
Chapter 13: The interface between career counseling and other counseling/psychotherapy
Chapter 14: Adapting in a changing world: dealing with repeated career transitions
Chapter 15: Feeling the water: carrying out job/work analysis
Chapter 16: The final product: writing a career counseling report
Chapter 17: Two case studies
Chapter 18: Identifying Life-Career Themes with the Career-Style Questionnaire
Chapter 19: Using early memories in career-story interviewing

Of Interest and Benefit to:

- Practitioners in primary, secondary and tertiary education
- Teachers and principals
- Corporate coaches
- Psychologists
- Social workers
- Researchers
- Academics
- Students and scholars