About this Publication:

In Marriage, Land and Custom, the contributors consider how the far reaching processes of change and adaptation that are currently underway in relation to marriage and the land rights of single women living in ‘communal’ areas in South Africa relate to one another, and to the broader economic and political developments in South African society. The book also examines the impact of the implementation of the Recognition of Customary Marriages Act in this volatile arena.

The focus in Marriage, Land and Custom is on the insights and experiences of academics and practitioners from different disciplinary frameworks, who address the complex interface between poverty, HIV, declining employment rates and the increasing number of social grants and their relationship to changing options for women, law reform and the shifting balance of power at local level.

Also available in a hard cover format as Acta Juridica 2013.

Contents Include:

- Marriage, land and custom: what’s law got to do with it? - Aninka Claassens and Dee Smythe
- Women, marriage and land: findings from a three-site survey - Debbie Budlender
- Securing women’s customary rights in land: the fallacy of institutional recognition - Wilmien Wicomb
- Women’s land rights and social change in rural South Africa: the case of Msinga, Kwazulu-Natal - Ben Cousins
- Contesting customary law in the Eastern Cape: gender, place and land tenure - Tara Weinberg
- Women’s eviction in Msinga: the uncertainties of seeking justice - Sindiso Mnisli Weeks
- Women, marriage and domestic arrangements in rural KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa - Victoria Hosegood
- Changing patterns of marriage and cohabitation in South Africa - Dorrit Posel and Stephanie Rudwick
- Declining rates of marriage in South Africa: what do the numbers and analysts say? - Christine Mhongo and Debbie Budlender
Renegotiating intimate relationships with men: how HIV shapes attitudes and experiences of marriage for South African women living with HIV: ‘Now in my life, everything I do, looking at my health’ - Diane Cooper, Elena Moore and Joanne Mantell

When non-registration becomes non-recognition: examining the law and practice of customary marriage registration in South Africa - Monica de Souza

Twelve years later: how the Recognition of Customary Marriages Act of 1998 is failing women in South Africa - Roxanne Kovacs, Sibongile Ndashe and Jennifer Williams

Form over function? The practical application of the Recognition of Customary Marriages Act 1998 in South Africa - Lea Mwambene and Helen Kruuse

Mayelane v Ngwenyama and Minister for Home Affairs: a reflection on wider implications - Chuma Himonga and Anne Pope

‘Today it would be called rape’: a historical and contextual examination of forced marriage and violence in the Eastern Cape - Nyasha Karimakwenda

Reflections on the recognition of African customary marriages in South Africa: seeking insights for the recognition of Muslim marriages - Waheeda Amien

Rethinking marriage and its privileges - Denise Meyerson

Of Interest and Benefit to:

- Academics in the disciplines of law, African studies, sociology, public health and gender studies
- NGOs that address women’s rights, rural issues