

Communication and Media Ethics

Edition: 1st Edition

Publication date: 2011

Author/Editors: Hyde-Clarke, N eISBN: 9781485115335

Format: eBook Number of Pages: 352

Retail price: R647.00 (incl. VAT)
Website Link: juta.co.za/pdf/24283/

About this Publication:

Ethics in the media is a topic of some heated discussion right now in South Africa and is clearly a challenge to practitioners as well as students of communication and media studies. Communication and Media Ethics in South Africa introduces and grapples with notions of ethical principles and practices, and how these may be applied in a diverse and challenging local context that is still undergoing political and policy transformation. This timely book is has been written by reputable South African academics in the field.

The arguments are presented in three sections:

- The first section introduces the core theories and principles of ethics from a communication and media studies perspective. Predominantly Western and African perspectives are examined in order to determine their relevance in South Africa, and their implications for mass communication and journalism practices. This section also addresses the challenges and concerns presented by online social media.
- The second section looks at the prevalence and effectiveness of self-regulation in the media. There is a robust discussion of the role of the press councils and ombudsmen, both internal and external.
- The final section presents a series of South African case studies around political, economic and social ethical concerns. Contributions include references to political bias, public interest, cheque book journalism, the brand culture, financial news reporting, and media coverage of HIV/AIDS, local cultures and natural energy resources.
- To enhance active learning practices, each chapter starts with Key Terms and Concepts. Relevant South African examples are provided to demonstrate the applicability of theoretical frameworks. To assist with the consolidation process, each chapter ends with Topics/Questions for discussion.

Contents Include:

Chapter 1: Whose ethics are they, anyway?

Chapter 2: Normative media theory in a changed media landscape and globalised society

Chapter 3: Between prodceduralism and substantialism in communication ethics

Chapter 4: Afri(Ethics), communitarianism and the public sphere

Chapter 5: Southern African press councils: accountability in practice

Chapter 6: Press councils and the democratic landscape in SA

Chapter 7: Analysing ethics and political bias in South African news media

Chapter 8: When the public interest is not what interests the public: An investigation of privacy

as media ethic in contemporary SA

Chapter 9: Chequebook journalism: A SA picture

Chapter 10: Ethics in business journalism

Chapter 11: Ethical corporate communication cultures within brand environments

Chapter 12: Ethics and the need to understand culture

Chapter 13: Reporting HIV/AIDS: An unprecedented ethical challenge

Chapter 14: Contesting the electricity supply in SA Media

Of Interest and Benefit to:

Communication and Media Ethics in South Africa is essential reading for all future and current practitioners and researchers in the field of ethics, as it explores the scope and effectiveness of principles and practices across a vast range of issues and topics pertinent to South Africa. Undergraduate students at universities and universities of technology studying communication, media or journalism.